

Hunger Action Month

Did you know that Arkansas has the third highest incidence of hunger in the nation?

More than 400,000 Arkansans do not have enough food to eat. These Arkansans are our co-workers, our relatives, and our friends.

September is Hunger Action Month, and I urge all Arkansans to help our neighbors in need.

It's not too late to do your part. The Arkansas Foodbank Network's month-long initiative, "Give a Little, Feed a Lot," continues to raise awareness and funds for hunger relief. Learn more at www.arkansasfoodbank.org.

Also, this Saturday, September 26, the Arkansas Hunger Relief Alliance and the Society of St. Andrew will hold their first annual "Yam Jam," a sweet potato gleaning and end hunger rally, in Wynne. Contact Michelle Shope (mshope@Arhungeralliance.org) or Temeka Douglas (Tdouglas@Arhungeralliance.org) at 501-399-9999 for more information.

I applaud the efforts of our state's anti-hunger community. Together, we can put an end to hunger.

With Arkansas Pride,
